

La Paloma Welcomes Guests for Love of Reading Week

Community leaders to read to students Feb. 9-13

Tucson, AZ (January 29, 2015) –The three La Paloma campuses open their doors February 9-13 for Love of Reading Week. Community politicians, news anchors, print journalists, representatives from the U of A and more will share their love of reading with La Paloma students, and invite community members to join in.

Tucson Mayor Jonathan Rothschild will visit the Lakeside campus to show his support for the event. He plans to read Go Dog Go and Pete the Cat.

"The importance of literacy has never been greater," said Raena Janes, charterholder for La Paloma, the fastest-growing charter school system in Southern Arizona. "Reading is the foundation of all learning, and having guests from the community read from their favorite books inspires our students to broaden their horizons in literature."

Over the past years, La Paloma has hosted an impressive list of guest readers ranging from local news anchors to the Tucson chief of police. Some of the confirmed 2015 guest readers, which vary by campus, include local television personalities Monica Garcia (KVOA), Jenna Lee (KOLD), and Rikki Mitchell (KGUN). La Paloma encourages more guests, including parents, to sign up and inspire students with their love of reading.

At all campuses, guest readers are encouraged to schedule a reading time from 9 to 11 a.m. or 1 to 3 p.m. on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday and from 9 to 11 a.m. on Wednesday. La Paloma Tucson campuses are:
